My dear Mr. Dulles:

In our conversation at the home of Philip Young on December ninth, you expressed some fear as to the possibility that information about American corporations publicly available at this Commission might be of value to an unfriendly power.

Let me assure you of our complete willingness to cooperate with you by putting into effect corrective measures.

Perhaps you could designate someone from your staff to work with us in this matter.

Yours truly,

Honorable Ralph H. Demmler
Chairman
Securities and Exchange Commission
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Demmler:

I appreciated very much your letter of 15 December in which you referred to our conversation concerning the possible value to unfriendly nations of information publicly available at the Securities and Exchange Commission.

There has recently been set up in the Department of Commerce an Office of Strategic Information of which Mr. R. Karl Honaman is the Director. This office is looking into the entire problem of the publication of unclassified information that might be of value to a potential enemy with a view to recommending policies with respect thereto for the guidance of executive agencies of the government.

I have already discussed your letter with Mr. Honaman and have referred it to him for action. He has assured me that a member of his staff will get in touch with your office in the near future.

Again let me thank you for your interest in this matter. Your offer to cooperate is most gratifying.

Sincerely,
